

CODE

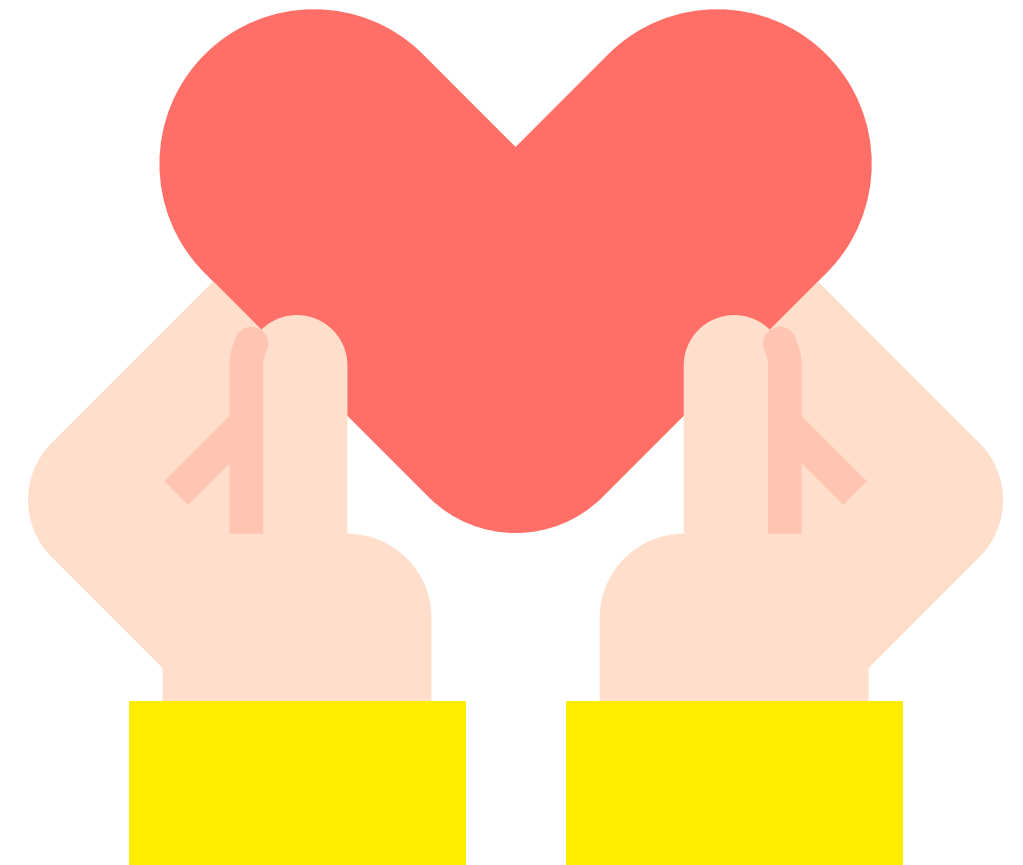

OF CON-

DUCT

— relationships
based on mutual respect and effective effort.

1. INTRODUCTI ON

At Finsa Group we have known since our origins, more than 90 years ago, that without a solid foundation of principles to support the different value propositions we offer to society, it is not possible to maintain relationships based on trust between people and on professional performance.

It is our confidence in this code of conduct anchored in our values, which today allows us to put it in writing, knowing that it commits us and is required of all people, regardless of the role or position we occupy in the Organization, and that it will serve as a reference to continue maintaining relationships based on mutual respect and effective effort.

We thank you for maintaining your commitment to compliance with it and we hope it helps you in the performance of your work in any-y part of the world. If you have doubts about understanding what is said in it or perceive difficulties in its application, do not hesitate to discuss it with the people in the Personnel Department, the Legal Advisory of the Finsa Group or the Compliance Officer.

Finsa Board of Directors

2. OUR VALUES

Values are one of the basic pillars that mark the character and identity of a company. At Finsa, we are fully convinced that our business culture must guide our day-to-day actions.

Thus, we aspire to a culture based on shared values, developed on two fundamental principles: mutual respect and effective effort.

Mutual respect As a way to stimulate the best possible response in others, we seek personal relationships governed by: Simplicity: acting with serenity, without ostentation, appreciating the importance of small details. Honesty: sincerity and openness in approaches, seeking trust. Generosity: listening to and including others in our goals, getting involved in helping them achieve theirs.

Effective effort It is essential to guarantee the sustained generation of resources that ensures our autonomy in building the company we would like to work in. We need to face problems with: Transparency regarding acts and omissions, elements of judgment, risks, and consequences of our decisions. Enthusiasm, positive attitude, motivation to improve, perseverance in the effort, and seeing mistakes as opportunities for learning. Teamwork, being participatory, counting on all opinions, seeking the common interest.

OUR COMMITMENTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

I. We commit to the safety and health of people.

We consider the protection of the safety and health of people a priority, and that is why we commit to maintaining and promoting the adoption of safety and health measures, in order to provide everyone with a safe and healthy environment in our workplaces, as well as to ensure compliance with the applicable regulations on this matter in all places where we carry out our business activity.

We see the participation of all people as necessary in the dissemination and compliance of safety and health regulations at work, within the scope of our duties, for our own safety, and that of all people who could be affected by the performance of our activity.

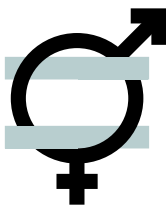

II. We are committed to labor relations based on trust and continuous improvement.

People are the main asset of the organization, and therefore we promote development and training, so that each person, with their intelligence and ingenuity, can continue maintaining and improving their contribution to the evolution of the Organization.

We maintain a relationship with people who perform social representation roles based on trust, dialogue, and respect. We need their contribution in maintaining and developing the best working conditions for people and in building the value propositions we offer to the market.

III. We defend diversity, equal opportunities, and non-discrimination.

We promote the development of relationships based on criteria of respect and non-discrimination. We all have the responsibility to help ensure a work environment free of discrimination, intimidation, abuse, sexual harassment, and/or harassment based on sex. It is fundamental to guarantee equal treatment and opportunities among people, regardless of their race, ethnic origin, religion, sexual orientation, political orientation, gender, age, disability, or any other personal or social condition.

IV. We promote caring for the environment.

We believe that the use of wood from forests with sustainable forest management, as well as the use of recyclable materials, contribute to combating climate change and its effects and to the development of the circular bioeconomy.

In our manufacturing processes we will promote the use of recycled wood, we will use wood that comes from properly managed forests, and we will comply with the requirements established in the reference forest certification systems PEFC (PEFC/14-35-00006), FSC® (FSC-C041397), EPD®, EUTR, to guarantee sustainable management and the legal origin of the wood.

We will allocate resources to improve the efficient use of energy, the use of natural resources, and the reduction of carbon emissions, in order to limit as much as possible the impact of our activity on the environment.

We will work to integrate the environmental perspective into all processes carried out in the organization and in the value propositions we offer to the market.

V. We will responsibly use the information to which we have access and will never do so for personal benefit.

We understand the responsibility we assume when we process personal data, and therefore we commit to protecting it and ensuring its confidentiality.

Likewise, in addition to personal data, we consider to be of a confidential nature, among others, all internal business processes, financial, commercial, business, and corporate reports, budgets, product formulas, and business strategy documents. We will never use the information to which we have access for personal benefit.

In order to protect this information, only people who have authorization to do so may transfer confidential data or information to third parties.

We will responsibly use the Company's resources for the development of professional activity (information, materials, supplies, software, facilities, etc.) and we will follow the guidelines established for the use of mobile and IT devices.

VI. We commit to making responsible use of the Company's assets and services.

We trust the judgment of people for requesting and using the means they need to perform their work.

We will responsibly use the Company's assets and services and will not use them for our own benefit.

VII. We believe in an upright and transparent relationship with our suppliers and collaborating companies, and we respect the independence of judgment of those who participate in recruitment processes.

We consider suppliers and collaborating companies to be a fundamental part of our chain.

Any supplier or company that considers they can help us improve and has the necessary means can contact the different purchasing departments of the Finsa Group, where they will be properly attended to. The selection processes for suppliers and companies will be carried out taking into account objective and impartial criteria that address the availability of necessary products or services, quality, collaboration, and contribution.

No collaborating company or person will obtain a benefit in the relationship if they try to win the favor of any person from our organization, through methods other than strictly professional ones.

All recruitment processes will guarantee the independence of judgment of the people participating in them, and no recommendation or consideration concerning any person who is or may be in a recruitment process will be admitted or taken into account.

VIII. We avoid conflicts of interest.

Conflict of interest can appear in those circumstances where the interests of people or people linked to them may not coincide with those of the Company, directly or indirectly, or may interfere with the performance of their duties.

When this happens, people will bring the situation to the Company's attention to try to find a solution to the possible conflict. Until said conflict is resolved, people will refrain from representing the Company, from intervening or influencing decision-making in any situation in which they directly or other persons linked to them have a direct or indirect personal interest.

In order to avoid conflict, except with the express authorization of the Company, we will not be able to carry out work or provide services for other companies that compete or may compete with Finsa Group companies.

IX. We also take care of our image and reputation in the media and social networks.

We consider that our image and reputation is the result of a relationship with people based on mutual respect and freedom of expression. We are all responsible with our behavior for taking care of the company's image and reputation.

With the rise of media and social networks, it is important to understand that any information shared about Finsa Group companies can become public. Therefore, we must always act with discretion and never reveal private or confidential information without prior authorization.

If we have a presence on social networks, we will differentiate our personal profile from our professional profile, so that it can be easily identified when we act on behalf of Finsa Group companies and when we do so in a personal capacity.

X. We will always make moderate, transparent, and respectful use of gifts, presents, and hospitality.

We consider that hospitalities and invitations to clients and suppliers, or received from them, must respond to criteria of moderation, transparency, and adequacy to local practices and customs.

In the performance of our duties we do not accept gifts; they will only be permitted when:

- They are of irrelevant economic value, symbolic, or promotional items of low value.
- They correspond to signs of courtesy or usual business hospitality according to local practices.
- They are given or received transparently and occasionally.
- They are not prohibited by law or generally accepted business practices.

When they do not meet all of these conditions, we will reject or return them explaining the reasons, and if this is not possible, we will hand them over to the Personnel Department for management.

— We are all responsible for our behavior.

XI. We respect and protect Intellectual Property, Industrial Property, and business secrets.

For their contribution to the development and maintenance of our Company, we value, respect, and protect patents, trademarks, business and industrial secrets, and all other information subject to an intellectual and industrial property right of the Company. The intellectual and industrial property created by people in any Finsa Group company will be owned by the Company.

Likewise, we will respect the Intellectual and Industrial Property rights of third parties. In this regard, we will maintain the confidentiality of third-party information to which we have access in the performance of our activity...

XII. We are in favor of free competition and good market practices.

We consider that respect for and compliance with antitrust regulations is not only a legal obligation, but is part of our responsibility to clients, suppliers, and consumers in general.

For this reason, we will internally promote the development and maintenance of good practices in the market.

XIII. We trust in the integrity and honesty of people and we are against corruption and bribery.

We believe that the performance of our work and the practices we carry out in the Company must contribute to maintaining the integrity and honesty of people.

In this regard, we may not directly or indirectly receive, offer, or deliver any payment in cash, in kind, or any other benefit, to any person in the service of any entity - public or private -, political party, or candidate for public office, with the intention of illicitly obtaining or maintaining business or other advantages.

XIV. We value the contribution and rigor of accounting, tax, and financial functions.

At Finsa, we properly account for, record, and document all operations, without omitting, concealing, or altering any data or information; thus, our accounting and operational records faithfully reflect reality, in accordance with current accounting and legal regulations, and may be verified both internally and externally.

On the other hand, compliance with current tax legislation and all tax obligations resulting in the payment of taxes in all territories in which it operates is an acquired and respected duty of the company.

XV. We believe in the rigor and transparency of public aid management.

We are aware of the responsibility involved in requesting and managing public aid for building our value propositions and developing our business.

We ensure that the aid requested or received from Public Administrations is used appropriately and that its application is transparent, avoiding modifying the conditions for obtaining it, or using it for a purpose other than that for which it was granted.

IT IS IN YOU
